

Ray Moore

Ray Mitchell Moore, 90, a man who loved his family, friends, golf, his second home in Crested Butte and Mayhaw jelly, passed away on Friday, June 24, 2022 in Beaumont, TX. He was born on September 7, 1931 in Beaumont, TX, to parents Della Mae and Jack Mitchell Moore. He was an incredible father and was constantly spurring his children, grandchildren and great grandson to achieve their goals fearlessly and give unselfishly. Larger than life, he genuinely loved people and lit up the room with laughter wherever he was. Being an attorney, he chose his words carefully, and boy did we listen. As children, the dinner table always ended with a series of questions. We learned to be straight and to the point, what is "the bottom line" he would say.

Ray Moore's life-long love affair with golf began at Lamar University, where he was a member of Lamar's golf team. He served in the US Army from 1955 to 1957, and was a part of the All Army Golf Team. He even taught several generals how to play golf. He followed in his father's footsteps and entered law school at the University of Texas. Upon earning his Juris Doctorate in law, the Professional Golf Association invited him to play on the pro golf tour. He reluctantly turned it down, citing he didn't want to live his life out of a suitcase. He also had met and married the love of his life, Mary, in 1955. Later she would say never marry for money, it is just "icing on the cake." They loved their life together, traveling around the world and to their second home in Crested Butte, Colorado.

Ray quickly earned a reputation for being one of the best corporate lawyers in town, and was well respected and a friend to all. The PGA had previously told him he would be unable to play in any golf tournaments with pros for a certain number of years, and after that allotted time passed, he (with Mary and sometimes his children in tow) played in as many pro-am golf tournaments as he could.

He established in 1966 his own successful law firm with his father, what is now Moore Landry LLP. He eventually intermingled his two passions, law and golf, by owning his own golf course, the 200-acre Idylwild Golf Course in Pinewood. He thought living "in the country" on a golf course was heaven on earth. He cared tremendously for his friends and neighbors, and in 2008 established a community park and playground in Pinewood, known as Moore Park. Even in his older years, he could often be seen at the park picking up trash.

Even at the end of his time on earth he was giving bedside advice to his grandchildren, working on legal contracts for his granddaughter's new company and giving financial advice. It was important that he gave back to the local community whenever there was a need. He instilled the need to give to charity to his three children, Mark, Laura and Eileen. Ray and his late wife, Mary, endowed Lamar University a gift to the College of Fine Arts and Communication by creating the Mary Morgan Moore Department of Music. They established a $2 million charitable remainder trust with the Lamar University Foundation in 1991, to allow the Ray and Mary Moore Endowed Faculty Chair in Music to recruit the most gifted professors and talented students in the arts.

At his 90th birthday party, Ray stated he never thought he would live that long, but that life was good and "a hell of a ride." He was a treasure to us all, as a man, husband, friend, father and lawyer. Ray was our hero, our role model and an inspiration. He showed us what we could be, how we could give, and how to live life well. He made a difference in the lives of many and was beloved by more people than he knew.
